MARINE

The first sugar cargo of the new crop of 1907 to reach the market, arrived at San Francisco Sunday. It consisted of 5000 tons and was aboard the S. S. Nevada from Honolulu and Kahului. The price was $70 a ton. The Nevada is to be rushed in her dispatch from San Francisco, and will sail direct from that port for Honolulu, on January 29.

EXCURSIONS OUT AND IN.

With everybody expressing satisfaction over their experience, the steamers Kinan and Mauna Loa returned yesterday morning about 9 o'clock, from the excursion trips to the lava flow in Kau. The parties were landed from both vessels near Hoopuloa and the majority walked inland, to the foot of the slowly moving lava.

The vessels depart at noon today on their regular runs, but both have large crowds booked for passage. The Mauna Loa goes along identically the same coast of Hawaii, that she visited on Sunday, with the party of excursionists. The steamer Maui departed yesterday at noon, with another large crowd of excursionists to see the lava flow.

ANOTHER SALINA CRUZ BOAT.

Cable advices of the departure of the S. S. Californian from Seattle for Honolulu, were received yesterday. She will be here about January 30. The vessel will load sugar for Salina Cruz, at Honolulu, Kahului and Hilo. The allotment has not been determined yet. The vessel will be about ten days discharging and loading at island ports.

LIBELED BOAT DEPARTS.

After being idle here for nearly two weeks, the Japanese S. S. Chiuse Maru departed last night for the Orient. She goes to Yokohama and Kobe. She had to delay departing, as the presence of her officers as witnesses in the Inter-Island Company's libel against the vessel, was required by the attorneys for the steamer.

MAIL TO COAST TODAY.

The S. S. Sierra of the Oceanic line, is due this morning from San Francisco. She will probably be dispatched for San Francisco about 3 o'clock this afternoon. She will take a fair-sized amount of island products, but will take but a small crowd of passengers from this port. The vessel is expected to make this port on time.

MAINLAND MAIL TOMORROW.

With nine days later mail, the S. S. Coptic is due tomorrow from San Francisco. The Pacific Mail steamer left San Francisco two days late, on January 17. She is en route to the Orient.

MARINE NOTES.

The steamers Maui, J. A. Cummins, Noeau and Niihau were the island departures yesterday.

Considerable sugar has arrived from island ports, for the S. S. Californian, and is now stored in the Railway wharf warehouses.

The schooner Ada will resume her run to Molokai and Maui ports, this morning at 9 o'clock, from the foot of Fort street.

This is island steamer day and the various Inter-Island boats will depart at their usual scheduled hours. Large crowds are booked to depart by the steamers Kinan and Mauna Loa.

The steamer Mikahala is due tomorrow morning from Kauai ports, and the steamer Claudine is expected back the same time, from Maui ports, Laupahoehoe and Hilo. The Claudine was booked to make an excursion to the lava flow, from Hilo.

DELIGHTED SIGHTSEERS

its excursion trip to the volcano wish to express in this manner their thanks to Mr. Kennedy for his kindness and consideration in enabling them to witness one of the greatest wonders of the Hawaiian Islands.

His efforts to find an accessible landing place and his excellent care of the passengers were highly appreciated, and they can not recommend too highly the services of the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Co.'s officers and assistants.

OTHER EXCURSIONS PLANNED

The success which has attended these excursions has led to the booking of many passengers for any further excursion that may be arranged by the Inter-Island company. Provided the flow continues and enough are booked to justify it the Kinan will be sent out on another special trip on Saturday next, repeating the last excursion.

YOUNG OFFENDERS RECEIVE SENTENCES

Nine boys, ranging in age from ten to twenty years, appeared in the prisoner's box at the police court yesterday morning. All were charged with larceny in the second degree, the clerk's table being piled up with a miscellaneous collection of goods ready to be produced in evidence against them. All elected to plead guilty, however, and tearfully received their sentences. Alfred Freitas, Frank Gomez and Abraham Lincoln Buckley got six months apiece on each of four charges, being committed to the Reform school. Kalanui and Pulu Akaka, the oldest of the boys up, who had burglarized a Chinese store and made away with some Kalakaua coins, were given thirteen months suspended sentences. The Chinaman expressing a desire not to prosecute, Camilo Machado, who had grazed the dock last week for throwing stones at an old Chinese woman, and who was found to be implicated to a certain extent in the larceny cases, was sentenced to the Reform school for a year but released on eight weeks' probation. Judge Whitney warning the boy to keep along the straight and narrow way hereafter or to expect serious trouble.

Jim Vieira and K. Nagata, to whom some of the plunder of the petty larcenists had been traced, appeared as receivers of stolen goods, their cases going over until Wednesday.

Sato, the Japanese arrested for cruelty to animals, having been caught driving a badly crippled horse, was soaked to the extent of $15, a sentence which drove the grin from his face very effectually. Prior to the passing of the sentence Sato seemed to regard the matter as a sort of a joke.

Wong Fui, the Chinaman who had violated the Sabbath by selling twenty-five cents worth of cambric, made little profit on the deal after he had paid the fine of $15 requested from him. He made no attempt to excuse himself before the judge, pleading guilty and getting out of the court room as soon as he could settle with the clerk.

The calendar contained a list of nine drunks, two of whom preferred to forfeit their $5 bail rather than to appear. Of the others, one was discharged, four fined $3 apiece and two given short jail sentences. Jose Filgueroa, without visible means of support, will eat at the county's expense during the next month.

Yong Kee was remanded until Wednesday. He is charged with trying to open up a native with a can-opener at the fishmarket on Saturday last.

During the examination of the three boys who are sentenced to the reform school it was brought out that an attempt was made to rob the New England bakery just prior to the sailing of the last Alameda, on which the boys had expected to make their way to the Coast. The boys had been frequent visitors to the shop and restaurant and had become wise to the fact that a canvas bag, containing an amount of small silver, was kept outside of the cash register and it was this bag of nickels that they wanted. A short time ago the bakery was entered at night, but the intruders got nothing for their trouble. At the time it was suspected that boys had been the offenders, for the chairs and tables had been upset, the table dishes thrown around and their contents, salt, sugar, sauces and spices, made into a glorious potpourri. As long as the investigation during and before the trial was kept up new features to the case were presented and a lot of information secured of petty robberies extending back for some time. So many varied were the cases that Little Abraham Lincoln grew weary of giving the details, informing Chief Taylor that if he wouldn't bother him any more he would go before the court and plead guilty to anything and everything.

OIL PAINTING FOR THE PRIZE COSTUME

The executive committee for the Mardi Gras ball held their regular meeting last night at the Kiohama Art League rooms and decided upon the rules and regulations for the Mardi Gras masque ball, which will appear in the Mardi Gras book.

James Wilder has contributed as a first prize, a painting, entitled "The Native Preacher," valued at $250. This will be presented to the lady wearing the handsomest costume at the ball.

The question of selecting the music came up and the master of ceremonies and floor committee were in favor of employing the best musicians possibly procurable. They are in favor of Prof. Berger's full orchestra and recommended that no expense be spared in having good music.

Mr. Wilder moved that the question of music be postponed until the day after the university ball at which Prof. Berger's orchestra is to appear.

Mrs. Graham, the chairman, decided to have a meeting on February 9, at which the matter will be decided.

There will be a meeting of decoration committee on Tuesday, at 3 o'clock, at the Kiohama Art League rooms.

PREPARING BILLS FOR COMING LEGISLATURE

The draft bills prepared by the Legislative committee of the Republican central committee will be in shape to be taken up by the committee of the whole this week, after which the public will be taken into the confidence of the party and told what has been going on in the effort to frame legislative measures covering those points outlined in the party platform. Such is the information given yesterday by Senator John C. Lane, chairman of the central committee.

The Legislative committee has been holding several meetings of late, the last being held on Saturday night in Senator W. O. Smith's office. At these meetings the members have been threshing out the points of the proposed bills, although the actual putting of their ideas on paper has only just been begun. It has been the desire of the committee not to give out any information on what bills are proposed nor in what way they are to be treated until they have submitted their final report to the central committee.

Mrs. Hodgson, teacher of piano, organ and singing by a new and simple method, has removed her studio from Vineyard street to 275 Beretania avenue, nearly opposite the Central Union church. At home every day except Saturday between 3 and 6 p. m.

SAY, MERCHANT!

"Do You Carry Life Insurance and Fire Insurance?"

Then why should you or any other merchant who insures his life, his buildings and his stock of goods, neglect to insure the safety of the money which he spends his life and sells his goods to get?

YOU WORK HARD, EARLY AND LATE for the money that comes over your counter in exchange for the goods you sell. And yet you place that hard-earned money in a drawer unprotected in any way against carelessness and possible dishonesty.

A NATIONAL CASH REGISTER will prevent this for you. It costs you nothing to call and investigate.
